

Job in UK

Interviewer: Is it difficult to find a job in the UK?

Speaker 1:

Hmm... No, it's quite easy to find work in the UK, there's a lot of vacancies. There is always a shortage of skilled staff and engineers and experienced bricklayers and skilled site staff as well. And there is always work to be found if you want to work. It's quite easy to find a job. Of some kind or another.

Speaker 2:

I think it can be, yeah, it can be. I worked for company for three years and they moved and I was laid off. It took me three months to find a new one.

Speaker 3:

It depends what are you looking in. But the more professional areas are very competitive.

Speaker 4:

No, not so hard, there is lots of ways to look for jobs. You can look on the Internet, Londonjobs or different recruitment agencies. Other way is newspapers. Newspapers are very good for finding jobs. There's lot of jobs out there. It is just what you're willing to do.
